

Sparta Systems and Veeva Systems to Deliver End-to-End Quality Solution

Integration of TrackWise® and Veeva Vault QualityDocs to Streamline Quality Management Processes and Documentation

PLEASANTON, CA and HAMILTON, NJ – Oct. 1, 2013 – Sparta Systems and Veeva Systems today announced plans to deliver a complete, fully integrated quality solution. The two companies will integrate Sparta's market-leading enterprise quality management solution, TrackWise, with Veeva Vault QualityDocs, a cloud-based document management solution to manage controlled documents across the enterprise. Bringing together quality process and document management in a single, end-to-end solution will enable life sciences companies to strengthen compliance, improve efficiency, and lower costs.

“Sparta’s strategic relationship with Veeva is a significant milestone as quality-conscious organizations move to streamline mission-critical work processes,” said Eileen Martinson, CEO of Sparta Systems. “Product safety incidents are growing as a result of supplier quality issues. The integration of these products, complemented by our soon-to-be-released cloud-based supplier quality solution, will help ensure safety and efficiency across the enterprise and supplier network.”

“Partnering with Sparta, the market leader in enterprise quality management systems, we have the opportunity to deliver greater strategic value for our joint customers,” said Peter Gassner, CEO of Veeva Systems. “Through the integration of TrackWise and Veeva’s cloud-based regulated content management solution, life sciences companies and their suppliers can now manage quality processes and quality documents together, eliminating the limitations and compliance risks of traditional, disconnected systems.”

The integration between TrackWise and QualityDocs is currently planned for release to customers in the first half of 2014.
