Benefits:

- Drive launch excellence: A detailed understanding of all relevant scientific leaders enables effective engagement and more coordinated launches.
- Enable insights-driven execution: Demonstrate effectiveness of medical engagements across channels by quantifying shifts in stakeholder sentiment.
- Improve portfolio strategy: Scientific insights from the healthcare landscape enable medical affairs to inform the evolution of product pipelines.

Applications

With Veeva Medical Suite, integrated stakeholder data, scientific content and multichannel interactions enable coordinated and informed engagement. Medical teams gain a deep understanding of the healthcare landscape and customer needs and can execute immediately with tailored content across all channels.

Evolve scientific engagement

Veeva Medical CRM helps to coordinate, execute and track engagement with scientific experts and other stakeholders across all channels. All activity is tracked and available directly in Medical CRM, allowing you to plan and align strategies with commercial teams to compliantly engage stakeholders and decision-makers. Additionally, important medical insights can be captured and analyzed to gain an in-depth understanding of emerging scientific opportunities.

Build deeper relationships

Veeva Link is an enterprise source of continuously updated customer and market intelligence for better planning and engagement. Robust profiles – including scientific activities across channels, sentiments, affiliations, and clinical interests – enable medical and commercial teams to better coordinate and align around experts. Seamlessly integrated with Veeva Medical CRM, Link supports your field teams and delivers new engagement opportunities while providing tailored information and compliant data views.

Disseminate relevant scientific information

Veeva Vault Medical features two applications that support the lifecycle for managing scientific content and medical information. With Vault MedComms, medical affairs teams can create, review, store, and distribute scientific content across channels and geographies. Vault MedInquiry provides a complete and scalable solution for managing end-to-end inquiry processes – from case intake, response package generation, to email fulfillment – eliminating the need for siloed systems and automating manual tasks.
